ANSWER KEY

Directions: In the following sentences indicate which words should be capitalized based on the information outlined in chapter 10 of the AMA Manual of Style. For further explanation of the correct answers, refer to the cited section of the AMA Manual of Style.

1. After extensive testing, the physician determined that the infant had chediak-higashi syndrome.

ANSWER: After extensive testing, the physician determined that the infant had Chediak-Higashi syndrome.

Editor's Note: With eponyms, capitalize the proper name but not the common nouns that follow; hence, Chediak-Higashi but not syndrome should be capitalized in this example (§10.3.4, Eponyms and Words Derived From Proper Nouns).

2. The patient began to demonstrate parkinsonian symptoms in his late 30s.

ANSWER: The patient began to demonstrate parkinsonian symptoms in his late 30s.

Editor's Note: This example is correct as is. Most common words derived from proper nouns are not capitalized. Consult the current edition of a dictionary or medical dictionary (§10.3.4, Eponyms and Words Derived From Proper Nouns).

3. The surgeon used a teflon-coated electromagnetic needle during the operation.

ANSWER: The surgeon used a Teflon-coated electromagnetic needle during the operation.

ANSWER: The Americans with Disabilities Act ensures that disabled persons are not discriminated against when seeking employment.

Editor's Note: Capitalize the official names of awards and specific parts of laws and bills, but follow the official name (as in the lowercase w in Americans with Disabilities Act) (§10.3.3, Events, Awards, and Legislation).

5. The chair of the department of dermatology decided to resign his position by the end of the year.

ANSWER: The chair of the Department of Dermatology decided to resign his position by the end of the year.

Editor's Note: Capitalize the official titles of organizations, businesses, conferences, congresses, institutions, and governmental agencies. Words such as chair, president, senator, congressperson, editor in chief, and so on are not capitalized unless they appear before a person's name (eg, Editor in Chief Howard Bauchner, MD) (§10.3.9, Official Names).

6. The following are schedule II drugs: morphine, cocaine, oxycodone (percodan), methylphenidate (ritalin), and methadone (dolophine).

ANSWER: The following are Schedule II drugs: morphine, cocaine, oxycodone (Percodan), methylphenidate (Ritalin), and methadone (Dolophine).

Editor's Note: Usually, specific designators are not capitalized; however, the following are examples of exceptions to this rule: Schedule II drug and Axis I (§10.4, Designators). Proprietary (brand) names of drugs use initial capitals, with a few exceptions (eg, pHisoHex) (§10.3.5, Proprietary Names).

7. In 1985, Bruce Beutler identified and purified Tumor Necrosis Factor (TNF).

ANSWER: In 1985, Bruce Beutler identified and purified tumor necrosis factor (TNF).

Editor's Note: Do not capitalize the words from which an acronym or initialism is derived unless the words that form the acronym or initialism are proper names (§10.6, Acronyms).

8. The authors stated that "certain groups of patients were omitted from the study because of incomplete test results."

ANSWER: The authors stated that "certain groups of patients were omitted from the study because of incomplete test results."

Editor's Note: This example is correct as is. If a quotation is run into a sentence, a lower-case letter on the first word may be preferable (§10.1, First Word of Sentences, Statements, Quotations, Titles, Subtitles, and Table Headings).

9. Persons with mini-mental state examination scores of 24 or less were excluded from the trial.

ANSWER: Persons with Mini-Mental State Examination scores of 24 or less were excluded from the trial.

Editor's Note: The exact and complete titles of tests and subscales of tests should be capitalized. Always verify exact names of any tests with the author or with reference sources (§10.3.8, Tests). In this example, the correct presentation of Mini-Mental State Examination is given in the list of Clinical, Technical, and Other Common Terms (§13.11, Clinical, Technical, and Other Common Terms).

10. Massimiliano Zampini and Charles Spence were winners of an Ig Nobel prize in 2008 for electronically modifying the sound of a potato chip being chewed to make the person chewing the chip believe it to be crisper and fresher than it actually was.

ANSWER: Massimiliano Zampini and Charles Spence were winners of an Ig Nobel Prize in 2008 for electronically modifying the sound of a potato chip being chewed to make the person chewing the chip believe it to be crisper and fresher than it actually was.
